

COP-SJS Pact Nears Completion, Says Aitken

Nearly every phase of inter-campus rivalry between San Jose State and College of the Pacific was covered at the conference held in Stockton Tuesday afternoon, according to ASB President John Aitken.

"There has not been an extensive agreement or written pact between the two schools for many years," Aitken pointed out. He emphasized the need for such an agreement by stating that the student union of the northern college is thoroughly smeared with water-color "SJS's."

Aitken said that the final pact has not been drafted, but that discussions at the conference closely followed a pre-meet outline prepared by him.

Aitken's plan provides for a program of prevention and control of "dangerous" action that might be attempted by students, close inter-campus communication and an assurance of compensation for damage done to either campus.

The subjects of student-alumni relationships and after-game parties were also discussed, according to Aitken.

Others attending the conference were ASB Vice President Bill Eckert, Dean of Men Stanley C. Benz, and Dr. Edward Clements. The SJS delegation met with COP's student body president and vice president, dean of men and dean of women, Aitken said.

Dean De Voss Plans October Retirement

Dr. James C. DeVoss, executive dean, will retire from his duties at the college Oct. 1, it was announced recently.

According to Dr. DeVoss, state law requires compulsory retirement at the age of 70. He will reach that age Sept. 29 of this year. Retirement for the dean will come after more than 30 years at San Jose State.

Selection of a new executive dean will be made by President John T. Wahlquist. Apparently no definite decision has been made in regard to filling this post.

Dr. DeVoss stated that as yet he has no definite plans for retirement activities. He indicated, however, that he might consider taking a teaching position.

"I would like to teach in a small college," he said.

Wahlquist To Talk At CTA Meeting

College President John T. Wahlquist was scheduled to travel to Los Angeles today to speak at the annual "Good Teaching" conference of the California Teaching Assn.

The president's office announced yesterday that Dr. Wahlquist had a sore throat and remained home Tuesday and Wednesday to recuperate.

Modern Man Is Automaton Says Landau in Evening Talk

Modern man is an automaton who wakes up at 7:30 a.m., shaves, goes to work every day and is never aware of the world about him, according to Rom Landau, British author and lecturer who discussed "Comparative Religions" in the Music building concert hall last night.

Speaking before a disappointing crowd of approximately 150 persons, Landau said that man is mastered by daydreams and most of the time he is unconscious. He must "pinch himself mentally to stay awake," he said.

And although life is much more than the material world of our observations we must start at the bottom and become aware of this world before we can understand the deeper spiritual world, he added. Said Landau, "If this is achieved we realize how ineffectual atom bombs are and why foreign people do not appreciate the American dollar."

$80,000 Bookstore Planned Here

The site and plans for a new $80,000 bookstore were discussed last week in a meeting of the Spartan Board and a letter was drafted to be sent to College President John T. Wahlquist for his approval, according to Graduate Manager Bill Felse.

"The board unanimously agreed that the best site for the new bookstore will be between the Journalism building and Morris Dailey auditorium," Felse said.

He said that the proposed store would be an ultra modern, one-story, permanent building.

"We hope to begin construction this spring if the president and Sacramento approve the plans," Felse said. "The job will take about four months to complete."

The present Spartan Shop, now situated near the library, will be pushed out of its position by the new library addition, Felse said.

Prison Doctor To Speak Here

Dr. David Schmidt, chief psychiatrist of San Quentin Prison, is to relate his experiences while practicing at the prison, tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in Room 19, according to Claude N. Settles, associate professor of sociology.

All students majoring in social welfare, psychology or penology are invited to hear Dr. Schmidt, and consult personally with him concerning personal problems which may arise in that field of work, he said.

Wintermist Bids

Wintermist bath bids will be available today and tomorrow in the Outer Quad, according to Jim Cottrell, publicity manager of Social Affairs.

Next week bids will be distributed from the Graduate Manager's office. Free to ASB card holders, more than 1700 bids already have been issued.

Dr. Smith Tells Final Program For Dedication

The final program for the dedication of the Engineering building on Feb. 25 has been set with the exception of one speaker, Dr. Ralph Smith, Engineering department head, announced yesterday.

Principal speaker on the program will be Dr. A. B. Greninger, engineering manager of the General Electric Nuclear Energy Plant. Dr. Greninger will speak on "The Future of Nuclear Energy in American Industry."

F. E. Terman, dean of engineering at Stanford University, will open the dedication ceremony at 1:45 p.m. with a greeting from engineering schools, followed by a greeting from industry by an as yet unconfirmed speaker.

The greeting from the engineering profession will be given by Leo W. Ruth, state director of the California Society of Professional Engineers.

Dr. John T. Wahlquist, San Jose State College president, will deliver a 15-minute address on "The Place of San Jose State College in the Community." After the dedicatory prayer by Dr. James H. Strayer of the Calvary Methodist Church, Dr. Smith will talk on "Engineering at San Jose State College."

Jack Furey, president of the SJS Engineering Society, will supervise the awarding of citations to outstanding graduates, followed by the principal speech by Dr. Greninger.

Council May Help Select New Dean

The Faculty Council expressed an interest in assisting the President's Council to select a new executive dean at its recent meeting, according to Dr. George Muench, chairman.

A sub-committee suggested that if the proposal for faculty sabbatical leaves is acceptable, priority should be determined in terms of length of service. This recommendation is to be sent to the Administration committee, which will meet Thursday, Dr. Muench said.

Council Fills Two Activities Posts

Pat Engerud and Bill Kennedy were named to the Activities Evaluation committee by the Student Council at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The two appointees will join Bill Eckert, Student Activities Board chairman, and three faculty members in conducting a far-reaching investigation into the present system of handling campus activities.

During the meeting, Kennedy stated that he has worked on several ASB committees and found problems connected with all of them for which there is no precedent to provide guidance in making decisions.

"I realize that certain problems are peculiar to each group," he stated, "but I feel that some general plan should be formulated to set up precedents for handling some of these matters."

Carol Hotchkiss, Mary Ellen Bailey and Bob Lindsey were chosen from among several applicants for positions on the planning board of the Freshman Camp committee. The council eliminated freshman and transfer students from consideration for the posts.

The council opened applications for seats on the College Health, Spartan Shop and Student Union boards. Two students will be appointed to the Student Union board while the other two committees have one vacancy each.

Applications also were officially opened for Awards committee positions.

In other action, the council slashed a request for $50 and granted $10 to the Industrial Arts department to help defray expenses for two student representatives to a national conference scheduled for March 26 in Los Angeles.

No Reply from NM

Athletic Director Bill Hubbard still was waiting yesterday for a reply from the University of New Mexico concerning the proposed football meeting of the two schools here Nov. 37.

Hubbard said that the Spartans "have challenged" UNM but so far no answer has been received.

The director has been in contact with George White at New Mexico for the past two weeks since negotiations for a Nov. 16 game did not materialize.

No Finals For March Graduates

March graduates will be exempt from taking finals, according to Dr. James C. DeVoss, executive dean.

Dr. DeVoss explained that the only exceptions to this rule will be those graduates who prefer to wait until June to participate in commencement. He emphasized that these persons will have to take finals. They also will have to wait until June to get their diplomas.

No one will be allowed to take part in commencement, Dr. DeVoss said, unless graduation requirements are completed.

Dr. Elmer H. Staffebach, professor of education, will give the main address at the March 12 exercises. Though he has not yet chosen a specific title for the speech, he indicated that the subject will be concerned with his recent European trip.

The exercises will be formal, with graduates wearing caps and gowns, Dr. DeVoss stated that the tradition has been for a clergyman who is a relative of one of the graduates to give the invocation and benediction at commencement. He asked graduates who have relatives in the clergy to contact him in regard to this commencement office.

Shields To Work At Camp Grounds

The Spartan Shields, sophomore men's honorary fraternity, announced the following new pledges to be initiated: Hal Morrow, Bill Dubbin, Bob Lindsey, Ken Kawazoe and Bob Padden.

The Shields will travel to Asilomar park Saturday morning to begin their annual service project on the Freshman camping grounds, according to President Hank Ramp. According to Art Bartel, pledge master, the pledges will spend the week-end at the park planting 400 trees which have been donated by the state.

During the past week the pledges have been working on a new ticket booth, featuring a glass display frame. When completed the booth will be placed in the campus quad for student body use, according to George McFaddin, publicity chairman.

STUDENTS STILL REVOLT

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 27—Hundreds of marching students, defying official suspension threats, battled club-swinging police in downtown streets today in the third day of anti-British rioting here.

The students surged down Gran Via, Madrid's main street, shouting anti-British slogans and waving propaganda banners.

As before, the principal factor in the riots was Britain's 250-year tenure of Gibraltar, a fortress-rock at Spain's southern tip.

Dark Suits for All?

To the Social Affairs Committee:

I thought that "Wintermist" was to be for as many ASB holders as possible. I believe you forgot this when you made it formal. The students who go to the formal "Wintermist" also would go to it if it were semi-formal; but you are losing many students that would have gone if it had been semi-formal.

You stated that the school should have one formal dance. What is the Senior Ball?

You also stated that "dark suits would be appropriate to enable students with financial difficulties to attend." I'm sure lots of students are going to dance in dark suits, so that their friends can see that they are in financial difficulty.

Is it possible that the Social Affairs committee has a part interest in the local tuxedo shop?

American Journalism

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The column in Friday's Spartan Daily has aroused quite a stir throughout the entire campus. There were presented the true feelings of one of the readers and I must add, the feelings of quite a number of others.

One reply to Friday's column stated that as Mr. Nownejad was a foreign student, he did not realize what American journalism was like. I am sure that any American reader of the Spartan Daily would not jump at the chance to say that the paper is a good example of American journalism. It is possibly true that there is a difference between foreign journalism and that practiced in America, but I do not feel that the Daily should over-load this constructive criticism and stand unchanged behind the belief that this is American journalism, be it good or bad.

I am sure the staff will recall that the article printed Friday was handed the Daily office on Monday but did not appear until Friday. During that week, there appeared some articles as suggested by Mr. Nownejad. Could it be that the Daily did use some of the suggestions and yet not let its source be known?

If it is to be the policy of the Daily to present "factual reporting," why does it not do so? For one issue I presented an announcement for a coming meeting only to find it published with the information incomplete and incorrect. On one page, according to the Daily, the meeting would be Tuesday and on another page it said Wednesday. But it must be remembered, as a contributor pointed out, "to err is human, to forgive is divine." If attention is called to mistakes maybe they will happen less frequently in the future.

I thoroughly enjoyed reading the column in Friday's paper and all the replies it has aroused. I feel that only good will come of this. If the Daily answers the call for a better paper we all owe you a vote of thanks.

Students Not Considered

Dear Thrust and Parry:

There may not be too many people (including myself) who would speak or write against the sudden (to the student body) change from quarter to semester system. However, there are quite a few students who are willing to follow your query regarding the President's Council not informing the student body as a whole.

We would like to know more about this change and why it came about without the students' knowledge. Perhaps the administration knows that the student body would have voted the change down.

We would like to know why the council considers the student body a group that should be seen but not considered?

Misinterpretation

Dear Thrust and Parry:

I would like to refer back to an article in this section entitled "Defends Daily," which was written by Mr. John Burns, for the Jan. 25 issue of the Spartan Daily. This was, as a matter of fact, his "defenses" (Were they really defenses?) against an article, "Grammar School Paper," written by Sirouss Nownejad. I was inclined to write this article, because I was bothered very much by the issues of Mr. Burns regarding the ideas and suggestions of Sirouss, for a better, college-level Spartan Daily.

As you will realize, anyone who can actually think twice and try to analyze what is going on certainly agrees with me if I say that Mr. Burns wrote his article (his defenses) without going over Sirouss Nownejad's article.

I am sure Mr. Burns has Sirouss all wrong. You see, I am sure that Sirouss was just giving his personal opinion on what should be done about the Spartan Daily. He was not saying that he demands the Daily to do this and that. He was not saying that "he wants an opinion press," as it was interpreted by Mr. Burns.

Certainly he wants, for himself and for everyone, to see a press that can educate the student. After all we are all college men and women who are striving for education while at San Jose State. Sirouss was neither asking for "scholarly treatises from professors, nor stories by the leaders of the student government." He was just suggesting that they be interviewed by the staff of the Spartan Daily. These, Sirouss was never considering only for his own personal benefit, but for all students of Sparta, yet Mr. Burns was projecting his "defenses" on a personal basis.

Lastly, I would like to remind Mr. Burns that the fact that Sirouss Nownejad is a foreign student has no bearing on whatever ideas and suggestions he expresses. After all, foreign student or not, one has as much right as the other in presenting himself!

Fanner Leads Ring Hopes Against Mustangs Tonight

By BOB STRIEGEL

This will be the second big test for Coach Julie Menendez's ringmen, who showed power in trouncing the University of Idaho, 6-2. The San Jose State and California Poly boxing squads will exchange blows in what should be a thrilling dual meet in San Luis Obispo tonight.

In their opening meet. The Mustangs will be trying for a comeback after being downed by Stanford last week. In Cal Poly's debut of the season, they tied Idaho, 4-4.

In what is expected to be a feature bout tonight, the Spartans' promising heavyweight Dave Fanner, will battle Cal Poly's Jim Herra, who is said to be exceptionally fast for a big man. Both Herra and Fanner scored victories over Idaho's Hal Solinski.

In the light-heavyweight affair, Menendez will send Danny Hayes into the ring to face Ted Trompeter, a Mustang veteran who scored a technical knockout over Stanford's Len Doster last week. Hayes, a sophomore from San Pedro, won his bout against Idaho in his first match as a Spartan.

The Spartans' Tom Stern will be seeking his first victory of the season when he meets Mustang Judd Forse in the 165-lb. class. Stern put up a terrific effort in losing to Don Anderson in the Idaho go. Forse is fresh from a decision over a Stanford ringman.

For the Golden Raiders in the 156-lb. division, Dick Bender, a letterman from Redwood City, will be favored over Jerry Rolley.

John Frietas, 147-lb., replacing Army-bound Jack Montgomery, will have a rough customer in going against Cal Poly's Jack Bettencourt, a veteran gloveman.

The 139-lb. contest will bring together San Jose's veteran Allan

White and the Mustangs' Alex Ponovarov. White was a winner in his only bout this year.

Joe Rodriguez, 132-lb., considered to be San Jose's most improved mittman, is slated to mix blows with Myron Moses of the Mustangs.

In the 125-lb. clash, two glove-men named Hernandez will be the attraction. John Hernandez of the Spartans and the Mustangs' Frank Hernandez will be out to decide which Hernandez is the better boxer.

Gymnasts Open Season Tonight With Indians

San Jose State will resume its athletic rivalry with Stanford tonight as the Spartans play host to the always-aggressive Indian gymnastics team.

Coach Hugh Mumby named eight possible performers for the first meet of the year, of whom there is only one returning letterman, Bob Peavy.

Peavy will enter the meet as a tumbler and trampoline artist.

Freshman Ron Phillips also will pose as a threat to Stanford hopes. Phillips is entered in the all-around, rope climb and tumbling.

Bill Miller has been selected as a possible entrant in the rope climb for Sparta while Ken Sayre is scheduled to perform on the rings. Art Crowner will work on the horizontal bar, and Jack Alberti will be in the free exercise and tumbling events.

Ed Morinan and Bill Bace round out the line-up on the tramp.

Stanford and San Jose broke even in two meets last year.

Frosh Nine Dress

Walt Williams, head baseball coach, has announced that all freshman baseball candidates should report to the field house at Spartan Stadium Monday or Tuesday after 2 p.m. to pick up uniforms.

All candidates with last names beginning with A through M should report Monday and the remainder report Tuesday.

Pigskin Talk

A meeting of all 1953 Spartan football players will be held today at 12:30 o'clock in Room 112 of the Science building, according to head coach Bob Bronzan.

Bronzan, in calling the meeting, said that varsity and freshman gridders are expected to be present.

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

"The interview was the tip-off"

Ed Burtner, '52, watched the way job interviews were conducted before choosing his job. Let him tell you how it worked out.
(Reading time: 31 seconds)

"During the spring of '52—my last year at the University of Maryland—I was interviewed by a number of companies. I was about to get my B.S. degree in accounting.

"It seemed to me that there was a great deal to be learned from the way I was interviewed. Bell System interviewers took their time about job offers. They didn't rush me or themselves.

"I had two talks with the Bell interviewers and then was invited to meet and talk with department heads. Not only did they get a chance to look me over, but I also had an opportunity to get a closer look at their operation. I figured if the Bell System was that careful in selecting its men, it is careful in other things. The interview was the tip-off.

"That's why I'm working here in Washington, D. C., for one of the Bell Companies—The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company. My first job—after general training—was supervising a billing unit with 20 employees.

"Since then I have assisted on internal audits in all departments. I've helped with special studies for management and have become better acquainted with operations of the entire company. Now I'm working on the general books as an accounting supervisor.

"That Bell System interview has certainly meant a lot to me."

Ed Burtner is moving forward. His experience is typical of the engineering, physical science, arts and social science, and business administration graduates who join the Bell System. He went with an operating telephone company. There also are opportunities with the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.

Newspapers Not Slanting News, Says Local Editor

Speaking on "The Selection and Suppression of News" before a class in "The Newspaper and the Community" yesterday morning, Kenneth Conn, managing editor of the San Jose Mercury-News, declared, "Newspapers are edited for the reader alone. I don't know of any paper that has a policy of slanting the news."

Conn stated that rather than receiving pressure from advertisers to withhold a story from publication, a charge frequently hurled against the newspapers, the local Mercury-News' problem is the rejection of advertisers' tries for free publicity.

On a national scale, Conn pointed out that although Democrat Adlai Stevenson asserted after the last presidential election that "the newspapers in America are a one-party press," he referred solely to the editorial columns.

According to Conn, Stevenson admitted that he had received "fair treatment in the news columns," and a study of the situation revealed that the newspapers actually had devoted more news column inches to the Democrats than to the Republicans.

Friday Marks Final Showing Of Chinese New Year Display

This week is the last in which San Jose State students may see the current exhibit in the Home Economics department, according to Mrs. Mary Morgan, home economics instructor.

The exhibit depicts the Chinese New Year which is on Feb. 3 of this year. A 700-year-old New Year's Buddha sets the mood of the display. Also in the exhibit are ceremonial robes and Chinese costume accessories. Miniature dolls dressed in typical costume also lend authenticity to the exhibit.

Typical Chinese dish ware is shown and some of the special Chinese foods are on display.

Assisting Mrs. Morgan with the exhibit is Miss Rosalyn Yee, senior home economics student. Many of the choice articles on exhibit were loaned to the Home Economics department by the Royal Cathay Importing Co. of San Francisco.
